LIQUOR SELLER
FINED IN COURTQuincey Whitton Given $100 Fine for Selling Intoxicants This Afternoon.

SPECIAL JUDGE HEARD CASE

Proceedings Against Matlock on the Same Charge Were Taken
Under Advisement.

Quincey Whitton was fined one hundred dollars in mayor's court this afternoon on the charge of selling intoxicating liquor without a license. The case was heard before Special Judge John Kiplinger. The case of the State vs. Dora Matlock on the same charge was taken under advisement by the special judge until tomorrow morning at nine o'clock when he will return a decision.

John Borem and John Ricker were the prosecuting witnesses. Ricker when placed on the stand testified that he purchased one pint of whiskey of Quincey Whitton last Saturday night in the alley near Kramer's skating rink and paid him fifty cents for it. He said that twenty-five cents of the money belonged to him and the other twenty-five cents belonged to Borem, and that they both drank it back of Gale's pool room. Borem's testimony was practically the same as Ricker.

The defendant had no witnesses in the case. The attorney for the defendant argued that it was a joint sale and could not come under the statute which the State used to prosecute. He also said that the time and place of the alleged sale was not set plainly or brought out on the witness stand.

The case of the State against Dora Matlock for selling intoxicating liquor on the fair grounds during the last fair was heard. Borem was the prosecuting witness and said on the stand that he and Omer Adams, who now lives in Indianapolis, each bought one-half pint of whiskey on the fair ground on Tuesday of the last fair of Dora Matlock. He said that he paid ten cents and that Adams paid the other fifty, the sixty cents being given to Matlock for the whiskey. The witness testified that the whiskey was passed to him and Adams while they lay on the ground so that the action would not be noticed.

Dora Matlock was placed on the stand and denied the whole story and said that he did not sell Adams and Borem whiskey on the fair ground. He testified to having whiskey, but said that he drank it all himself.

The attorney for the defendant argued that the testimony was not sufficient to find judgment for the State when it was merely the question of one man's word against another's. He also said that the indictment read that Borem bought whiskey of Matlock, which was not brought out in the testimony, but that Adams bought the whiskey.

In representing the State Wallace Morgan said that the case was not one of who bought the whiskey and necessarily the exact amount, but the question as to whether Matlock did sell whiskey on the fair ground without a license. He said that since it had not been proven that Matlock had a license and that it had been proven beyond a reasonable doubt that Matlock sold whiskey to Adams and Borem on the fair ground, he saw no reason for not convicting the alleged offender.

Whitton's bond was fixed at $150. He was returned to jail.

Because Wallace Morgan, deputy prosecuting attorney, saw two judges where only one judge really ought to be, the two cases against Dora Matlock and Quincey Whitton for selling liquor without a license were not tried in Mayor Cowing's court at nine o'clock this morning according to schedule.

The first move of the defendants attorneys was to ask for a special judge on the ground that Mayor Cowing might be biased or prejudiced in his opinion. After the attorneys on both sides had agreed John Kiplinger was sworn in by the mayor to sit as special judge. The case of Quincey Whitton was brought before the court first and the defendants ask for a trial by jury.

Then Mr. Morgan asked for a continuance on the ground that he was not capable of trying the case at that time. The attorney for the defense made a plea for an immediate trial with the argument that it was due his clients who were forced to remain in jail because they could not get bail. Mr. Morgan held to his first assertion and said that he did not think that he should be compelled to try a case when he was indisposed and could hardly see the court or if he could see him it was only a phantom. Finally it was agreed that the trial should come up at one-thirty this afternoon and the matter of a trial by jury was left unsettled. Watson, Titsworth & Green are assisting Mr. Morgan in the prosecution and John Joyce is attorney for the defendants.

EXPECT A WARM CONTEST

The Rushville high school football team will journey to Richmond tomorrow morning to cross legs with the high school eleven of that city. The Quaker lads have a strong team this year and the local athletes are anticipating a hard battle. They have been practicing diligently all week in order to make a good showing in their first real game of the season.

The local team will line up as follows tomorrow: Wallace, C.; Gartin, R. G.; Moffett, R. T.; Norris, R. E.; Downey, L. G.; Wilcox, L. T.; Heeb, L. E.; Gunning, Q. B.; Hiner, R. H. B.; McRoberts, L. H. B.; Oneal, F. B., and E. Norris and Humes, substitutes. John Moffett will go from here to act as referee.

BOWLING SPORT
IS FAST GROWINGSocial Alleys Attract Good Crowds and Excellent Scores Are Made.

244 WAS ROLLED IN TEN PINS

The bowling sport is fast getting better as the weather gets colder. The popularity of the game seems to be growing and the Social alleys are crowded the greater part of the day. The season is fast nearing when the organization of bowling clubs will begin and there is some talk of the reorganization of the old bowling league which held the boards last winter.

At present Frank Cowing holds the high score for ten pins at the bowling alley. He rolled two hundred and forty-four several days ago and not many bowlers have even approached that total. Rich Reed is the nearest with a score of two hundred and twenty-five, made earlier in the season. Dick Smith holds the high five back score with one hundred and seventy-eight.

THOUGHT HIM
DEAD 15 YEARSTelegram Announcing Death of Ed
Stevens Was Unusually Sad
News to the Relatives.

THEIR LETTERS UNANSWERED

One Brother and Three Sisters Survive—Funeral Services This Afternoon.

The funeral services of Ed Stevens which took place this afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Moore in North Perkins street, were unusually sad. B. L. Stevens arrived yesterday afternoon from Xenia, Ill., and for the first time in seventeen years looked on the face of his brother.

Mr. Stevens received a telegram from the Eagles here Wednesday, telling of the death of his brother. That telegram was a shock, but it was a shock in an unusual way. For fifteen years he, as well as the rest of the relatives, had thought that Ed Stevens was dead. And then the first news they got of him after all these years was the announcement that he was dead.

About seventeen years ago the Rushville man visited his relatives in Illinois. Then he returned to this city and the Illinois member of the family moved to the West and were gone for about two years. When they returned they sent several letters here and when they received no answers to their repeated efforts to get some word from their brother, they took it for granted that he was dead.

Naturally then the telegram announcing his death after they had thought him dead for fifteen years was an unusually sad experience. The relatives were located through some old photographs found in Mr. Stevens' room by the Eagles. He is survived by the brother, who was here to attend the funeral, and by three sisters, Mrs. Mary E. Morris of Xenia, Ill.; Mrs. Eva Morgan, and Mrs. Emma Ryckman of Mitchell, S. D.

The funeral service this afternoon was in charge of the Rev. W. H. Clark. Burial was in East Hill cemetery. Several members of the Eagles were here from Anderson, Arlington and Milroy.

FARMER BUYS
LOT AND TALKSBut the Beauty About it Was He Did the Writing Before the Talking.

NARROW ESCAPE OF RECORD

Lazy Watch Stops and Chance to Make Good Time Goes Glimmering.

It is thought that a new record would have been made in signing a lot blank at the Y. M. C. C. headquarters yesterday afternoon, if one of the watches hadn't been lazy and quit rushing just as Augustus M. Winship was signing a blank. After they got the watch started again Mr. Winship talked of signing another blank but he decided to wait until he was in condition again. But the way he did go after that poor defenseless blank was a caution. Walked into headquarters, asked for a pen, did the work and then the talking. Incidentally there are three men in the city who have adopted the opposite plan—talk first and then the work, and the sad part about it is that they are still talking. (There were four until yesterday when one man heard of Mr. Winship's method and signed a blank.)

After Mr. Winship got through writing he said some things. Mentioned the fact that the farmers were going to buy lots—of course we knew that but it sounded good to hear him say it—and then he said that the farmers were watching Rushville men He said the farmers had an idea or two about how a city should be run and that they liked to see business men up and doing. Just a word to the farmers—they'll like Rushville men better than ever after this movement is over for they are going to get into it tooth and toe nail. Oh, yes, we heard a hazy say he had all the lots he could take care of, but he didn't mean it. He's going to get right into this thing and he's going to buy a lot and he's going to do it soon, too. He may think he can keep putting it off until they are all gone, but that's not the idea at all. He mustn't lose the opportunity to make some money and help boost the city.

The farmers are going to begin grabbing the lots tomorrow. And you can't blame them. Honest, now just because a man lives in the country and has all the comforts of home you can't blame him for wanting to get in on the privilege of helping out a movement in his own country and of course—you must not overlook this—the farmer is just about as shrewd as the next one when it comes to seeing a chance of making a dollar.

Why every one of those lots could be sold to farmers but that wouldn't be treating the city folk right. It wouldn't look right to have all those lots bought by farmers. After a certain number of men from the country have come in and bought it is probable that the rest will be saved for people in the city. That does not mean that they will be saved until some day when wifey prepares three good meals and gets hubby into an unusually good disposition in order to get him down to the Y. M. C. C. headquarters to buy a lot. If you want to buy a lot you have got to do it quickly, and if you don't want to now in three days you'll be begging everybody's pardon for not doing it sooner.

Remember again that this movement is not for people in surrounding cities—they had their's and made good—but this is for you. Get the drift? Well, get a lot then before some thing happens.

Second Meeting of Mrs. Dennon's

Literature Students Will be Held Tomorrow Afternoon.

IN THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH

The second meeting of the study class, led by Mrs. Dennon of Indianapolis will be held in the parlors of the Christian church at half-past two tomorrow afternoon.

The large membership in this class, better than ever before, is very gratifying to the ladies who have been unflagging in their zeal for the success of it.

Literature is an interpretation of life. Those who study good books under wise guidance, not only know more, have greater knowledge than before, but are better in heart as well as mind, more tolerant, more sympathetic.

There has been some unavoidable delay in getting the text books, but R. H. Jones hopes to have them here before the meeting Saturday. The ladies can bring their Tennyson's and Burns' to class Saturday, those who have them.

HILL CLIMBING

Program at the Auto
Carnival.

ON THE ROUGH FAIR GROUND

One of the interesting events not on the program at the auto carnival yesterday afternoon was the hill climbing contest which the E. F. M. and the Jackson got into. They went up and down those hills on the rough grounds just about as easy as the family horse pulls the buggy along the country road after the dust has been laid.

The Jackson was a wonder on this stunt and got some real applause from the people. J. O. Addison of Knightstown had one of his drivers take four passengers up the steep west hill just where the path leads to the top, and the machine apparently had to make little effort. Then the E. F. M. car finally made the climb on a short but steep place on the north side of the west hill after four trials. But the Jackson took a standing start and carried four passengers to the top on the first attempt. And then the crowd really clapped their hands and thought it was mighty good work.

First—Jesse Harlow.
Second—Ed Kelly.
Third—Jesse T. Winship.

A. B. Black was chosen to head the Democratic ticket in the coming campaign at the city convention held last night in the assembly room at the court house. After John D. Meggie withdrew from the race it left a clear field for him and Taylor Warfield. But there was a third man voted for although he didn't mean to be and the chances are that the man who voted for him did not mean to do it. One vote was cast for Tom Cauley, but the fact that he did not get any more is no reflection on him for he was not a candidate and it is probable that a delegate got mixed and slipped a clerk ticket in the hat instead of a mayoralty vote. The vote on the first ballot was Black 30, Warfield 25 and Cauley 1.

But Cauley got even when it came to the race for clerk. He received 41 votes, while his opponent, Curt Evans, received but 15. Mr. Cauley was declared the nominee and was much obliged for the honor.

Gurney Cohee had easy sailing in the choice for treasurer and his nomination was made unanimous.

Just two candidates were mentioned for the councilmen-at-large. Dr. C. H. Parsons made a short speech after his nomination and stirred up some enthusiasm. O. C. Norris, who was the other nominee, was not at the convention.

SPITTING NUISANCE

Hawking and Spitting is Caused by Catarrh Germs.

If the local authorities want to stop the disgusting habit of spitting mucous on the sidewalk, they had better instruct the people as to the best method of killing the catarrh germs and curing catarrh.

You can easily tell by reading the symptoms below whether you have catarrh or not:

Offensive breath, frequent sneezing, discharge from nose, stoppage of the nose, huskiness of the voice, tickling in the throat, droppings in the throat, a cough, a pain in chest, loss of strength, variable appetite, spasms of coughing, low spirited at times, raising of mucous, difficulty in breathing, loss of vital force.

Johnson's drug store has a sensible remedy (money back if it fails) for catarrh, called Hyomei, which is a vaporized air so antiseptic that when it is breathed over the inflamed and germ-infested membrane, it kills all germ life and cures catarrh.

The price, including hard rubber inhaler, is only $1.00, and money back if it doesn't cure. Extra bottles 50 cents.

"I have tried almost every catarrh cure on the market without benefit. Have been using Hyomei for one week and feel like a new man already."—Wm. V. Goode, Newark, Ohio, June 21, 1909.

Lesson III.—Fourth Quarter, For Oct. 17, 1909.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Acts xxiv, 10-27. Memory Verses, 25, 26—Golden Text, Acts xxiv, 16—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

In the close of the last chapter we saw how the chief captain, Claudius Lysias, sent Paul safely to Caesarea with a letter to Felix, the governor, in which he stated that there was nothing against the prisoner worthy of death or of bonds, but simply some question of Jewish law; that the Jews would have killed him if he had not rescued him from them; that he understood that they were still determined to kill him, and, being a Roman citizen, he had sent him to Caesarea, commanding his accusers to appear against him there. After five days the high priest and the elders, with a certain orator to speak for them, appeared before Felix, and Paul was brought forth to meet them. With some flattery, which evidently pleased Felix, and therefore the orator cut it short, he told a number of lies about Paul, which the high priest and the elders indorsed. Flattery and lying are still the order of the day among some religious bodies. But God is a God of truth, and in due time truth will prevail.

Being permitted to speak for himself, Paul denied all their accusations and briefly stated the whole truth of the matter, showing that it was wholly a matter of doctrine and of opinion as to what the Scriptures really taught; that he believed all that was written in the law and in the prophets and looked for a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and the unjust. This meant Jesus risen from the dead as Israel's promised Messiah, the Son of David, to sit on David's throne; also a fulfillment of Ezek. xxxvii, Jer. xxiii, Isa. ix, Dan. vii and all the prophets concerning the future of the nation and the king who shall reign in righteousness. It meant the resurrection of His body, the church, at His coming to the air for His saints (I Thess. iv, 16-18; I Cor. xv, 51-54), though that would not be specially in his mind, as he thought of Israel. It meant the resurrection of the unjust and the great white throne judgment at the end of the millennial reign of Christ. It meant that God will judge the world in righteousness by that man whom He hath ordained, whereof he hath given assurance unto all men in that He hath raised Him from the dead (xvii, 31). This, with justification by faith through the finished work of Christ apart from any works of the law, was counted heresy by these zealous Jews. But Jesus Himself taught this kind of heresy when He said, "O fools and slow of heart to believe all that the prophets have spoken" (Luke xxiv, 25).

Today there are with many no reliable writings of Moses, no prediction whatever, no future for Israel, nothing supernatural, no coming again of Christ, no wrath of God, but all such are simply unbelievers and stand against Christ, for He testified that all things written in the law of Moses and in the prophets and in the Psalms concerning Him must be fulfilled (Luke xxiv, 44). Felix is said to have had more perfect knowledge of "the way" (verse 22) perhaps because his wife, Drusilla, was a Jewess, so he postponed the case until Lysias, the chief captain, should come and tell what he knew. Meantime he gave Paul into the keeping of a centurion, with orders to let him have liberty and to allow all his friends to come to see him and to minister to him. This made it comparatively easy for Paul and would give him opportunity to strengthen the faith of the brethren at Caesarea, and he would certainly have much to tell of the Lord's doings since first He met him on the way to Damascus, and they would not be apt to weary of hearing of His wondrous works.

From time to time Felix sent for him and heard him concerning the faith in Christ, and on one occasion as he and his wife, Drusilla, listened to Paul reasoning of righteousness, temperance and judgment to come Felix actually trembled, but put his convictions from him, saying: "Go thy way for this time. When I have a convenient season I will call for thee." For two years this continued, Felix always hoping that Paul would offer him money to release him, and with that hope he sent for him the oftener. But Paul, having no thought of any release but a righteous one, never offered him a bribe, and so the successor of Felix came into office and found Paul still a prisoner. Felix's convenient time to repent never having come.

"Tomorrow" is not only the great word in many lands concerning temporal affairs, but it is the devil's great word for all who give any thought to their souls' welfare and for many saved ones concerning good works which they know ought to be done. The word of the Lord is, "Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation" (II Cor. vi, 2): "Today, if ye will hear His voice, harden not your hearts" (Heb. iii, 15). A word in Prov. xxix, 1, also comes to mind as we think of Felix and all such. The sinner may well tremble as he thinks of his own sin and is told that the unrighteous cannot enter the kingdom of God, but there is comfort in Rom. vi, 23. Concerning temperance, or self control, the result of righteousness, see Tit. ii, 12. Of judgment we have already spoken.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Oct. 17, 1909.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—"Pilgrim's Progress" series.—X. Doubting castle.—Ps. xlii, 1-5; Ixxiii, 13-20; I Kings xix, 1-18.

Doubting castle, one of the obstacles in Christian's progress, was owned and ruled by Giant Despair. Christian and Hopeful, who was with him at that time, slept one night on his grounds. The giant, seeing them the next morning, was very angry, threw them into the prison of the castle, gave them nothing to eat and grossly mistreated them, his wife, Diffidence, suggesting the methods of torture. It was suggested that they take their own lives, and Christian was so discouraged that the temptation was strong upon him to do so. But Hopeful made him ashamed of such a suggestion; but it again returned, only to be overcome again by Hopeful's denunciation. At last Christian thought of the key of promise, which he possessed, opened various doors with it, and thus they escaped.

The lessons to be learned from this part of Bunyan's allegory are clearly evident. It is to warn us against doubts, however dark the way may appear in life, and to put our trust in God, who is at all times "our refuge and strength, a present help in time of trouble."

Christian, in despair, almost to the point of self murder in Doubting castle, represents too many Christians. When all is bright and prosperous they are happy Christians, but when the way is dark and rough and hard they sink into doubt and despair. Such actions are strange contradictions. We profess to believe in a personal God who is infinite in power, and yet the moment life grows dark He means nothing to us. Just at the moment when we should lean hardest upon Him we do not trust Him at all. If faith is given to us it is especially for the times when we are helpless and need God's help. But too often we look at it the other way. Elijah was strong in faith when battling against the priests of Baal, but when threatened by Jezebel he fell into despair and asked God to let him die.

God has given us no assurance that we shall have no dark days in this life. "In this life ye shall have tribulations," says Christ. If we believe Him, let us not be troubled and worried with doubts when they come. Let us use the key of promise set forth in the words that followed: "Be of good cheer; I have overcome the world." So shall we, but not by doubt and mistrust of God. He will either keep trouble from us or keep us in the hour of trouble. There is a key of promise in the Scriptures for every trouble and affliction. Let us find it and open all doors of Doubting castle.

Our Technical School.

Recent years have seen a vast development in the education of the hand in connection with the brain. Manual training has been introduced into public schools. There are manual arts high schools alongside the old type of high schools, and the schools of technology are rapidly coming to equal rank with the colleges and universities of the arts. Now, all this should have its parallel in religion. The Christian Endeavor society was the first to take up the idea and apply it to the religious training of young Christians. Our prayer meetings are where we learn to speak for Christ. Our committees are where we learn to do other kinds of work for Him. The society that allows its committee work to degenerate will soon have no prayer meeting worth the name. Training in committee work is a training in Christian co-operation. A committee must pull together. This is something very necessary to learn if one is to labor successfully in the church. Training in committee work is training in leadership. The trained committee worker is able to get others to do things. This makes him a most valuable worker in the church when he grows up. Training in committee work is training in method. One learns that there is a best way to do everything and that usually it is incomparably better than even the second best way of doing the same thing. The committee trains one in patience. It trains one in ingenuity. It trains one in perseverance. It trains one to look for definite results, and it shows one how to get them. It trains one in the use of tools. In short, it is a complete college of Christian efficiency. If you want to become a well rounded Christian, enter the Christian Endeavor School of Technology and take the entire course.—Amos R. Wells in Christian Endeavor World.

Prominent Christian Endeavorer.
Charles E. McBurney, who again has been chosen to head the Chicago Christian Endeavor society, has been prominent in the society for several years. He was born in Chicago in 1881 and in 1898 was graduated from the Englewood high school. He entered business with an oil company and early became prominent in Christian Endeavor work, his first office being that of president of the missionary department of the Chicago society. In 1906 he was made president of the Englewood division. He lives at 5444 La-salle street.

ROY HAROLD, City Editor.

Friday, October 15, 1909.

It is up to the people of Rushville as to whether they are going to make a success of this movement to locate factories or not. Those who intend to buy lots should go to headquarters at once without waiting to be solicited and put down their names. Every one has a certain influence. Actions speak louder than words. If you go to headquarters, buy a lot and put a button on which says "I have bought a lot," that will show that your heart is in the right place for Rushville. If you can't buy a lot sell one for the cause.

Quite a number of laboring men, men who have nothing, little else except their salaries, have gone to Y. M. C. C. headquarters and have signed up for lots in the factory addition. In some cases where they have felt that one lot was a "little strong" for each one, two persons and sometimes three have joined together and have signed blanks together. At the same time they have asked about what some of our leading citizens have done.

The sort of public spirit that has been made manifest repeatedly by Rushville people in baseball, football, horse racing, horse shows, etc., by Rushville people could find a profitable outlet at this time if bestowed upon the movement to get factories. General Apathy is not a very good general to follow in any undertaking. General Confidence is a leader who accomplishes more.

A number of farmers from different parts of Rush county have called at Y. M. C. C. headquarters and have subscribed for lots in the factory addition. In one instance yesterday a farmer living several miles out of Rushville who has no property interests in the town and has had no children in business here called at headquarters and put down his name without hesitation for a lot and remarked that he was much surprised that a more active interest was not taken by certain business men about whom he inquired. This same sort of inquiry has been made from a number of farmers.

OFFICERS RAID A CRIPPLED TIGER

Got Seven Quarts of Whisky and Thirty-one Pints of Beer at Knightstown.

JACKSON'S DRY BEER JOINT

Seven quarts of whisky and thirty-one pint bottles of beer were captured in a blind tiger raid at Knightstown Wednesday by Marshal Wagner and Deputy Bass, says the New Castle Courier. As a result charges will be filed against Dave Jackson in the Henry circuit court. He was a former saloonist, who has been operating a dry beer joint. That some one was selling liquor unlawfully was a foregone conclusion. The officers had their suspicions and incriminating circumstances seemed to point toward Jackson's place. The two officers secured a search warrant and went through the place securing the goods and holding them as evidence. Jackson made regular and frequent trips to Indianapolis. These were so numerous as to cause comment and it is believed that to those onto the ropes he sold large quantities of beer under the guise of dry beer. Considerable whisky is alleged to have been sold by the drink.

Editor Republican.
Dear Sir—Below is a slogan which might be carried out, in Rushville, to good effect.

BE A RUSHVILLE BOOSTER.
Boost and the town boosts with you; Knock, and you'll flock alone; Smile and the others will join you; Don't be a stick or a stone.

Boost, and you'll brighten your labor; Frown, and you'll meet constant strife; Beam kindly on stranger and neighbor; Don't make a farce out of life.

Boost, and the sunshine grows brighter; Scowl, and the clouds heave in sight; Laugh, and each burden grows lighter; Don't hold a grudge over night.

Boost, Boost, all boost with a vim; Kick, and you're sure to lose out; Brighten each day, get into the swim; Don't knock or go round with a pout.

While driving toward this city this morning near the Levi Retherford farm, east of here, the tap came off of the wheel of the buggy in which Jefferson Carr was riding, allowing the wheel to come off and the axle strike the ground. The horse was caught later before he broke loose from the buggy.

IN BAD WITH LUCK.

(New Castle Courier.)
Through the working of a peculiar fate, bad luck or something, Ralph Cox, motorman on the Indianapolis-New Castle limited, is having a lot of trouble. At Cleveland Wednesday night he killed two horses, Thursday morning in Indianapolis he came within an ace of crashing into an automobile and at Philadelphia on the return trip Thursday he came so near running into another horse that his hair stood on end. After all of that he sent the limited around the corner of Broad and 14th streets at noon and came near hitting another team. The accident Wednesday night was witnessed by several New Castle passengers all of whom assert that the motorman was not to blame. The near-accidents Thursday are attributed to the negligence and carelessness of others. Cox is recognized as a careful motorman, but he says that when a fellow gets in bad with his luck once most anything is liable to happen.

Up and After 'Em!

"Twere better 'twere done quickly." Let us have it said that when Brazil could do a thing in nine days which was required for the raising of far more money, it took the people of Rushville one solid month to do so. These factory people who have arranged to move their plants here will fare better about the matter and you will feel far better about it if, by your prompt action this factory addition matter can be put to work putting in the foundations of those factories. Go to headquarters, sign up for a lot and put on one of those buttons which say, "I have bought a lot." It will influence others. "Actions speak louder than words." "Let your lights shine." Set a good example in the community by doing a thing which will not lose you a dollar, but will make you some money and at the same time help Rushville. Do not wait for somebody else to act for you in the matter of subscribing for lots. While you are waiting a lot of the people who are not content to be catalogued in the community as too slow to catch a cold may get in and have the whole transaction closed while you are only thinking it over. Then you would look and feel foolish, sure enough.

An old Italian proverb says "The way to hell is paved with good intentions"—that is, good intentions which are not carried out or put into force. In the words of Longfellow in the Psalm of Life, "Act, act with the living present, heart within and God o'er head."

Collect Bonus Money

Connersville News: The committee collecting the bonus money for the Lexington Motor car plant were out today, and, as usual, were cordially received by subscribers who promptly paid the amounts placed opposite their names. Not a refusal was met with. The committee made good progress, though some of whom they called on were absent from their places of business. There is no decision, as yet, so far known, as to the location of the factory, but that will doubtless come when the collections are rounded up, which will be in a very short time.

AMUSEMENTS

The Star-Grand offers a Biograph subject tonight entitled "In Old Kentucky," which is a stirring episode of the Civil war. At the beginning of the war Kentucky endeavored to be neutral, and her sons decided for themselves which side to take, hence it was that many a Kentucky home was divided. This is the underlying theme of the drama—two brothers enlisting against each other. The meeting of these two brothers, at the close of the war, is a most thrilling climax. Earl Robinson will sing "Take Me To Moving Pictures."

The Vaudet management has an exceedingly good program to offer tonight in the two pictures, "A Lover's Mistake" and "Aboard the German Navy." The first is a drama with a wonderful plot and the second is a scenic production. Don Rogers will sing "Roll on the Rollaway."

The program offered at the Palace tonight includes the film, "The Engagement Ring." It is a dramatic subject filled with thrilling episodes and startling climaxes. A love story is interwoven in the plot. Miss Iva Brown will sing "Someday When You Are Mine."

SENSATION FOLLOWS BANK ROBBERY CASE

Robber Who Killed Himself a Los Angeles Lawyer.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—An actress playing in a local theater, May Harrington, has been named as the "Woman in Blue," seen frequently with Lamar Harris, an attorney of Los Angeles, who killed himself to escape capture after robbing the Erskine bank in Highland Park Wednesday. The identity of the woman was disclosed by James Leighton, a vaudeville actor now playing in St. Louis. He met Harris and the actress while here. Detectives were sent to the theater to question the young woman as to any knowledge she may have of the attorney's life and his connection with other crimes. "I am the woman referred to," said Miss Harrington, at the theater. "I met Lamar Harris in Los Angeles and he followed me up and down the coast. I learned from Leighton last week that he was here and called on him at the LaSalle hotel. "Lamar was always a good fellow and spent money freely. He acted strangely at times, but I had no idea that he was mixed up in anything crooked. I was shocked to read that he killed himself when caught as a bank robber."

Leighton wired that he and Harris with the Harrington girl had attended a birthday dinner at the LaSalle hotel a week ago. Harris, he said, spent money freely and asked to be called "Lamar," saying he was in bad with the banks at home. Harris, according to Leighton, met Miss Harrington in Los Angeles, followed her to coast cities and then to Chicago. After receiving word from the actor the police of Highland Park were asked in a telegram from Mrs. W. A. Harris of Los Angeles to photograph the body of the robber and rush a copy to her. Harris was a society leader, clubman and orator in Los Angeles. He has been missing from there since it was charged that he forced checks.

DECEMBER WHEAT

Shows Signs of a Most Significant Activity.

Chicago, Oct. 15.—Another big bull campaign in wheat, with some powerful leader accumulating a line for December, similar to the holdings of 10,000,000 or 15,000,000 bushels by the Armour houses on September contracts two months ago, is declared to be on. Many big individual traders have taken the buying side. In the aggregate the buying of wheat yesterday reached many million bushels.

There is great interest in trying to discover the Patten position in the market. James A. Patten covered a line of short wheat a few days ago, as he found he was in wrong. George W. Patten was short at that time, and up to the last couple of days has been selling more wheat short on each advance. Well advised people in the pit are of the opinion that part or all of his big line was covered on yesterday's advance.

Veterans in Christian Service.

Pittsburg, Oct. 15.—Today is bringing out one of the most notable features of the Disciples of Christ centennial—the veterans' campfire, which will be held in five churches and halls simultaneously. Short addresses will be made by a number of the oldest disciples in the country, some of whom are octogenarians, who traveled across the country purposely for the "campfire." The old-fashioned kind of sermons will be preached and the songs sung will be those of the Eighteenth century.

THE LAST LETTER OF GROVER CLEVELAND

Utica Observer Prints Interesting Communication.

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 15.—The editor of the Utica Observer, E. Prentiss Bailey, a close friend of Grover Cleveland, prints in his newspaper the text of a letter he received from the former president a few days before Mr. Cleveland went to Princeton, where he later died, and which Mr. Bailey believes is the last letter of any length or importance that Cleveland wrote. The ex-president's letter to Mr. Bailey is dated at Princeton, March 14, 1908, and its contents are particularly interesting in the light of the controversy precipitated a year ago by the Cleveland letter produced by Broughton Brandenburg, which was said to have been forged and for selling which Brandenburg was prosecuted in New York.

The letter which Brandenburg gave to the public made it appear early in the last presidential year that Mr. Cleveland, becoming hopeless of his party, turned a eulogist of Taft, the then expected nominee of the Republicans. Brandenburg testified in his own behalf early this year that the letter was signed by the ex-president and given to him about the 8th of March, 1908. The letter to the editor of the Observer was written six days later than that date, and it shows that the ex-president was still with his party and, instead of having Taft in mind, was contemplating the possible nomination of J. A. Johnson for the presidency by the Democrats.

This letter closes by expressing "a settled conviction that our party before many years will march from the darkness to the full light of glorious achievement."

I think, valuable as Smith may be, it would be a good thing to lay him off until he sobers up."

"Pinckney nodded. "I understand your feelings," he said, "but I'll stay out here myself to see that the gun goes through all right. Smith's nasty now. It might be as well if you didn't stay any longer. It upsets him to have outsiders about."

For the first time a real suspicion of foul play took hold of Sommers. They were all too obviously anxious to get him away.

"Don't worry," he said shortly to Pinckney. "I'll take care of myself. I've got time to get into my working togs, haven't I?"

He turned away and started back to the office just in time to meet Marsh approaching. He had sized up Marsh for an honest, well meaning fellow, so he didn't hesitate to stop him.

"Oh, I say, Marsh, what time did that gun go into the fire?"

The head draughtsman looked up and down and everywhere but at Sommers' face.

"I—I don't know, Mr. Sommers, exactly," he hesitated.

"Don't know!" exclaimed the officer. "What's going on here anyhow? It looks to me like there's something wrong. Didn't you tell me that gun went in at 6 o'clock?"

Marsh was thoroughly frightened now.

"Did I say 6 o'clock? I've forgotten, Mr. Pinckney will know. I'll ask him."

Suspicion had become practical certainty in Sommers' mind now. He saw he, too, must be diplomatic. He must not let these people realize what he suspected. He shook his head eagerly.

"Oh, don't bother Pinckney, Marsh. I'll be back in a moment, just as soon as I get on my working clothes."

And, leaving Marsh in a cold sweat of fear, the naval man hurried into the office. As soon as the door had closed after him Pinckney rushed over to Smith.

"Now, Smith, go to it quick," he commanded.

In a moment the roar in the big furnace room had increased tremendously. Smith began to bellow his orders. The men realizing the important time had come went to work with a will.

The hugh traveler was rushed over above the trap furnace as fast as it could be moved. The chains were being lowered into the trap to draw out the gun when Marsh caught Pinckney by the arm.

"Mr. Pinckney, don't—don't try it," he exclaimed. "Sommers suspects."

Pinckney shook off the restraining touch.

"Let him suspect," he exclaimed contemptuously. "What difference does that make? Once get that gun into the bath without his seeing it, I can beat him, no matter what story he tells in Washington."

"But you can't get it in," expostulated the frightened draughtsman. "He'll be back in a minute. He knew you couldn't beat him or he wouldn't have left. He's gone to put on his working clothes."

For reply Pinckney shook himself free and shouted to Smith:

"Here, Smith, Sommers has just demanded that you be discharged. He says you can't handle the job. He's gone to change his clothes, and he'll be back in a minute to boss the job himself."

That was enough. The drunken foreman's rage was as fierce as one of his own furnaces now.

"He has, has he?" he roared above the noise of the furnaces and the clanging steel. "If he comes in here I'll throw him in the furnace!"

"I don't blame you," supplemented Pinckney. And Smith, seeing now the general manager was behind him in whatever he might attempt, was ready for desperate work.

"Here!" he shouted. "Take my signal whistle. I'll go over by the door and wait for that guy. When he shows up you signal the men to take out the gun."

"When he comes in!" exclaimed Pinckney, amazed. "How can you stop his seeing you?"

The foreman laughed brutally, then, stooping over, picked up from the

For Your Hair

Here Are Facts We Want You to Prove at Our Risk.

Marvelous as it may seem, Rexall "93" Hair Tonic has grown hair on heads that were once bald. Of course it is understood that in none of these cases were the hair roots dead nor had the scalp taken on a glazed, shiny appearance.

When the roots of the hair are entirely dead and the pores of the scalp are glazed over, we do not believe that anything can restore hair growth.

When Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will do as above stated, it is not strange that we have such great faith in it and that we claim it will prevent baldness when used in time. It acts scientifically, destroying the germs which are usually responsible for baldness. It penetrates to the roots of the hair, stimulating and nourishing them. It is a most pleasant toilet necessity, is delicately perfumed and will not gum nor permanently stain the hair.

We want you to get a bottle of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and use it as directed. If it does not relieve scalp irritation, remove dandruff, prevent the hair from falling out and promote an increased growth of hair and in every way give entire satisfaction, simply come back and tell us and without question or formality we will hand back to you every penny you paid us for it.

We lend our endorsement to Rexall "93" Hair Tonic and sell it on this guarantee, because we believe it is the best hair tonic ever discovered. It comes in two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it only at our store.—The Rexall Store. Lytle's Drug Store.

floor a short piece of iron, already blood stained at one end.

"O'Leary," he said briefly, and, turning with the bar in his hand, lurched across, drunkenly confident, toward the path which Sommers must cross on his way in the office to the trap furnaces that contained the Sommers gun, now ready to be hoisted and transferred to the tempering bath.

Marsh had already hurried away. Possible murder was more than he had counted on when he allowed Pinckney to bully him into becoming his fellow conspirator.

Pinckney stood ready with the whistle in his hand, while the men at their places waited, ready to hoist when the signal should be given.

The trap was laid. All was in readiness when they saw a raggedly dressed girl with a shawl over her head hurrying down the furnace room from the door through which the men were accustomed to enter.

"Here!" he shouted. "What are you doing here? Who are you? Get out!" Instead of answering the girl ran

THE TALE OF THOUSANDS

The Scientist and His Great Discovery.

Many things have been advertised in the local papers for human ailments, but nothing has created the talk and enthusiastic praise in this city and vicinity like Root Juice. Most of those who take the remedy a short while can not say too many good things for the scientist and this wonderful health-promoting discovery. While here the scientist said:

"The medicine does not cure disease; it simply removes the cause and gives nature a chance. That is why so many people get well after taking the Juice awhile." Many local people permitted their names to be published in this paper because the remedy cured them and they continue to report at the drug store some great good the Juice is doing. It is certainly a great medicine for the stomach, liver and kidneys. Indigestion, constipation, rheumatism, backache, sick headache, nervousness and other symptoms of a disordered condition of the digestive and secretory organs are soon removed under the Juice treatment. They are pleased to tell about it at Wolcott's drug store. Root Juice is $1 a bottle. Three bottles for $2.50.

on until she find come facing him. Then she stopped short and threw back the shawl from her head.

Pinckney started back in amazement, for instead of Lucy Smith, as he expected, he looked into the blazing eyes of Frances Durant.

CHAPTER X.

TURNING A DIRTY TRICK.

PINCKNEY started at first, too amazed to speak. Finally he managed to pull himself together.

"Frances! What are you doing here?" he exclaimed.

The girl's reply was a contemptuous sneer.

"I don't have to ask what you are doing here."

"You know?"

"Yes," she cried. "I know you are trying to ruin Mr. Sommers' gun, and that's why I'm here—to prevent it."

Her hatred of dishonesty, her love for Sommers, her pride in the honor of the Durants, had all combined to drive the girl into a fury of passion that Pinckney had never seen before. He could not fight against it. He knew that, and so he had to temporize. Instead of showing anger he only smiled with apparent surprise and pity.

"What could have put such a ridiculous notion in your mind, Frances? It's too foolish to discuss. Who told you?"

"Don't try to explain, Edward," the girl exclaimed angrily. "Lucy Smith told me. O'Leary told her. He was hurt because he wanted to be honest."

At the bottom of the steps the naval officer turned on the manager of the works.

She came to the house to find Mr. Sommers, and I borrowed her dress to come here quickly and warn him."

Pinckney was smiling now with relief. He saw he had a chance if he could only get the girl out of the way.

"And you believe such a story?" he protested in a hurt tone. "Why, my child, O'Leary was delirious. Smith was drunk and struck him while they were fighting—a plain, ordinary fight between hot headed workmen."

"What possible reason could I have for wanting to injure this gun? To have it a success means as much to your father and to me as it does to Sommers. Think of the reputation of the plant, of these works, that your father has spent his life in building up!"

"Why, Sommers is here now looking after the gun himself. If he were to hear such a story it might ruin your father's business. You don't want to ruin your father's business on the word of a delirious workman, sore on his foreman for beating him? Don't you see how wrong you are?"

The girl hesitated. It did seem plausible. O'Leary was hurt. He had been fighting. And then she did not imagine any one could be so contemptible as to fight a rival in the way Pinckney must be doing if he really had planned all that O'Leary charged.

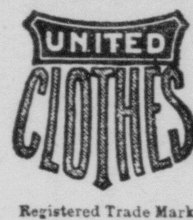

The girl felt that perhaps she had been too hasty. She felt just a bit foolish, coming there in Lucy Smith's clothes and possibly exposing herself to ridicule before the men. She hesitated, looking at Pinckney.

From the other end of the furnace room, where he had gone to intercept Sommers, Smith had made out Lucy, as he supposed, talking to Pinckney. The drunken rage of the foreman changed instantly to this new object of attack.

Why should Lucy be talking to Pinckney? What was she doing there? He had warned her time and again to keep away from the works, and especially from Pinckney and the office, because Smith knew Pinckney and the advantage which he had taken of his position more than once to injure girls whose fathers and brothers depended on him for their livelihood.

The general manager was a little czar in the town. Mr. Durant did not come into close personal relation with the men in the plant, and Pinckney could take on and put off, make and ruin men at his will. He had ruined some, and others, Smith knew, had risen from the works through complaisance and pretended blindness to the actions of the general manager.

But the independent foreman did not propose to put himself in that class. He loved his family when he was sober, and no matter what he might do himself he was determined that his wife and daughter should go straight. No wonder, then, the sight of his daughter talking to Pinckney in the works before all the men enraged him. With the bar in his hand

"Hey, there!" he shouted when he had come close. "What do you mean talking to this fellow? Haven't I told you I didn't want you hanging around the works and not to talk to him? Now, you get out of here quick!"

Frances turned, and Smith stepped back aghast.

"Miss Durant!" he exclaimed. "Excuse me, miss. I thought you was Lucy."

"That's all right, Smith," exclaimed Pinckney hastily. "No trouble now, remember." And he turned back to Frances. "Come to the office, Frances. (To be continued.)"

No More Gray Hair.

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made and used a "sage tea," and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair, and are fast following suit. The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready to use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulpher. As a scalp tonic and color restorer, this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers, and it can be bought for 50 cents and $1 a bottle at almost any first-class drug store, or will be sent direct by the Wyeth Chemical Company, 74 Cortlandt St., New York City, upon receipt of price.

KING ALFONSO IS IN DANGER

Spanish Ruler Practically in Hiding.

AFRAID TO SHOW HIS FACE

The Storm of Indignation Aroused by the Execution of Prof. Ferrer Makes It Certain That It Will Be Long Before the Spanish King Can Again Safely Go Among His People.—All Europe Is Stirred by an Event Which It Is Thought Will Call For Reprisals.

London, Oct. 15.—A power that he never would have had if alive, Ferrer dead yields. The storm of furious indignation at his execution seems to be increasing in western Europe, and the cable brings in reverberations from Buenos Ayres, Montevideo and other parts of Latin America. Thus far there has been no manifestation in England except verbal protests, but a great meeting is being organized for Oct. 18 at Sheffield, where Ferrer was known, and an effort will be made there to institute a boycott of Spanish goods. The anarchists in London are growing ominously. "There are bound to be reprisals," said an anarchist leader here, "and the Spanish government cannot complain if there is shot for shot."

There is reason for stating that the fear of reprisals is gravely perturbing those Spaniards and Spanish sympathizers who otherwise have every ground for suffering by Ferrer's removal. They believe his execution has created in Spain a dangerous situation. The vengeance of Ferrer's associates and admirers will, it is not doubted, aim at the official heads of those who judged, condemned and executed their revolutionary hero, and it will not stop short of the occupant of the throne. It will be a long time before King Alfonso can again safely go among his people.

Such news as gets out of Spain says the government is still successfully holding the lid down. Two bombs were exploded in Barcelona yesterday, but such occurrences are frequent there even in normal times. Telegrams from the frontier towns of Cerbert and Hendaye say that the populace of Barcelona seem to be amazed at the execution, but the citizens are forbidden to discuss it under threat of immediate arrest. It is stated that the city was occupied by troops last evening, which presumably means there has been a great increase in the already large garrison. All French newspapers are confiscated at the Spanish frontier and either destroyed or returned to the French postoffice.

Travelers arriving at Hendaye from Bilbao report that the miners are greatly excited. A large force of troops are concentrated in the mining district, where a serious outbreak is threatened. Reading between the lines, it may be inferred that military power alone stands between the established order and rebellion.

ROME AROUSED

General Strike in Protest to Ferrer's Execution.

Rome, Oct. 15.—The general strike called as a protest against the execution of Ferrer is complete, although it is disapproved by a majority of the Socialists. The anarchists are preparing a great demonstration. The police have requested Cardinal Merry del Val, papal secretary of state, to remain in the vatican, as they could not guarantee his personal safety. Cardinal Vives Y Tuto, who is of Spanish birth, left the vatican in disguise and is hiding in a Capuchin convent. Demonstrations continue in the leading towns of Italy. The chief seaports have decided to boycott Spanish ships.

Soldiers Busy in Paris.

Paris, Oct. 15.—There was no attempt last night to renew the rioting. Some efforts at disturbance included the throwing of a bottle of ink at the coat of arms over the Spanish embassy, were quickly suppressed. The students of the Latin Quarter made a noisy demonstration, but there, as at the Spanish embassy, strong forces of police, infantry and cuirassiers maintained order.

A BETTER PLACE

May Be Found For Lawshe in a More Congenial Climate.

Washington, Oct. 15.—The resignation of Third Assistant Postmaster General Lawshe has been expected. He returned here this week from a vacation of several months. Mr. Lawshe found that the Washington climate did not agree with his health. He may be given a federal office in some congenial climate. Mr. Lawshe was an auditor of the Cuban postoffice in department accounts during the American military occupation following the war with Spain. He was active in the prosecution of Major Estes G. Rathbone, director of posts in Cuba. Later he went to Manila, where he served as auditor of the Philippines government and became closely associated with President Taft, then governor general of the Philippines. President Roosevelt appointed him to the office of third assistant postmaster general.

THE FONTANET DISASTER

Today Is Second Anniversary of Powder Mill Horror.

Terre Haute, Ind., Oct. 15.—Since it was the last day under the statute of limitation upon which damage suits could be filed against the Dupont Powder company in connection with the Fontanet disaster two years ago, five suits for more than $50,000 damages were filed yesterday.

Two years ago today the big powder mill of the Dupont company exploded at Fontanet, killing more than thirty-five persons and injuring hundreds of others, besides doing almost incalculable damage.

The largest suit filed was that of Edith Hopton for $25,000 damages. She claims to have been injured while in her home near the mill when it exploded.

TO MAKE A TEST OF IT

Can Breweries Sell to Individual Customers in a "Dry" Town?

Washington, Ind., Oct. 15.—In order to make a test case of breweries selling to individual customers in a "dry" town, Prosecuting Attorney Hastings has filed a suit against A. T. Brewer, agent for the Terre Haute Brewing company. Brewer has been selling and delivering beer to private customers since the saloons closed here on Sept. 8. The case will be heard at once in the circuit court.

Well-Known Lawyer Convicted. Peoria, Ill., Oct. 15.—Arthur Keithley, who was disbarred as an attorney and indicted two years ago on a charge of circulating reports defamatory to the character of the late Judge McCullough, was found guilty by a jury in the circuit court. Unless a new trial is granted he must serve a year in prison or pay a fine of $1,000 or both. Keithley was formerly one of the best known attorneys in Illinois.

Children Were Left Alone. Jeffersonville, Ind., Oct. 15.—A child of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lentz, eight miles east of this city, is dead, and a younger child is dying as the result of being burned. They were left alone in the house while the parents went to the barn to milk. Both children were on the floor in flames when the parents returned, but how their clothes caught fire is unknown.

TO BE GIVEN AIRING

Indiana Mine Labor War to Be Thoroughly Investigated.

Sullivan, Ind., Oct. 15.—A stir was caused in Sullivan county mining circles when a number of French miners of Hymers received anonymous letters threatening their lives if they did not desist their efforts toward prosecuting twenty-four American miners for the alleged forcible abduction of the foreigners two months ago. The letters are now in the hands of the prosecutor and the matter is being investigated by the grand jury. More than twenty witnesses from the mining town have been summoned to appear before the grand jury and the entire labor trouble and recent riots in Sullivan county will be given an airing.

LET THEM FOLLOW, IS ALL COOK SAYS

Explorer Declares His Mark Is On Mt. McKinley's Top.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 15.—Maintaining that he had ascended to the summit of Mt. McKinley and expressing astonishment at the statement of Edward Barrill, the guide who accompanied Dr. Frederick A. Cook on the attempted ascent of Mt. McKinley in 1906, and who has been quoted in news dispatches as saying that Dr. Cook did not reach the summit of the mountain, Dr. Cook said further that if an expedition will follow the route he took they will find the records deposited by him at the summit of the mountain. Referring to Barrill's statement, Dr. Cook said: "I cannot really understand why Barrill should have made such a statement as the newspapers reproduce, if he was acting under normal conditions. I must say it surprises me. We were always on the most friendly terms. Until I know of the conditions under which this alleged affidavit was made, I will make no specific reply to it. My account of the trip has been published. For the present it is the bald statement of one man against another."

"If an expedition of experienced mountaineers will follow the route that I took and will go to the top of Mt. McKinley, they will find there the records which I deposited on attaining the summit of the mountain in the manner described in my book, 'To the Top of the Continent.'"

In the course of a chat with a number of newspaper correspondents, Dr. Cook declined to enter further into the discussion of the subject. He stated that he expected soon to get into touch with Barrill, when the whole matter will be explained.

Mayor Vetoes Annexation.

Indianapolis, Oct. 15.—There seems little probability that the city council will attempt to pass the Broad Ripple annexation ordinance over the veto of Mayor Bookwalter. It is understood, however, that renewed efforts will be made to pass another annexation ordinance that is pending, and which, it is said, could be passed over a veto in the event Mayor Bookwalter should take such a step.

Muncie, Ind., Oct. 15.—Lloyd Maddux, a workman employed in the construction of a smokestack 250 feet high at the Muncie electric lighting plant, fell a distance of fifty feet, and although his condition is serious, physicians believe he will recover.

A Boy and a Gun.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 15.—Angered at a remark about his walking across the carpet with muddy shoes, George, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Augustan, picked up a shotgun and shot Margaret Lang, aged eighteen, killing her instantly.

Trapped by Decoy Letter.

Carmi, Ill., Oct. 15.—Charles Carr was given an indeterminate sentence on a bigamy charge. Carr married Miss Vern Wood, an Evansville (Ind.) actress, here in May, and when wife No. 1 appeared deserted his second bride. Miss Wood trapped him with a decoy letter and he was arrested in St. Louis, where he was waiting to meet the actress.

An Indiana Bigamist Convicted. Laporte, Ind., Oct. 15.—William J. Murphy, self-confessed bigamist with three wives, Miss Cora Mesher of this city being wife No. 3, has been sentenced to an indeterminate term in the state prison. Murphy is but twenty-three years of age.
